Qualifications:

I am Nicole Toomey Davis, candidate for District 5 of the State Board of Education, a wife of 19 years, the mother of two young children, an entrepreneur and businesswoman, former Trustee of a non-profit theater company and a longtime community contributor.

I want to represent the education needs of your children and my children. We should not be content to be “average” in our education system, our children deserve much more. The world is changing and Utah is changing and we need to do more to prepare our children to take advantage of the opportunity that change brings.

If elected, my key goals are:

- Work to articulate a shared vision of the future of Utah Education for an innovation-driven, global economy
- Work to improve graduation rates and "Career and College Readiness" of our seniors
- Build a productive relationship with the Legislature and truly represent our children at the Capitol
- Strengthen the partnership between the State Board and local school boards and districts

I have a BS in Electrical Engineering from Brigham Young University and an MBA from the Stanford Graduate School of Business. I am a published author, with textbook contributions and press articles.
